

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
EASTERN DISTRICT OF WISCONSIN

TIMOTHY M. GOSE,

Plaintiff,

v.

Case No. 23-CV-608-JPS

TROY LENZ, GREGORY
STOMPNER, DESTINY KREBS, AMY
MATRICOLA, and CINDY BARTER,

Defendants.

ORDER

Plaintiff Timothy M. Gose, an inmate confined at Redgranite Correctional Institution, filed a pro se complaint under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 alleging that the defendants violated his constitutional rights. ECF No. 1. This Order resolves Plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee and screens his complaint.

1. MOTION FOR LEAVE TO PROCEED WITHOUT PREPAYING THE FILING FEE

The Prison Litigation Reform Act ("PLRA") applies to this case because Plaintiff was a prisoner when he filed his complaint. See 28 U.S.C. § 1915(h). The PLRA allows the Court to give a prisoner plaintiff the ability to proceed with his case without prepaying the civil case filing fee. Id. § 1915(a)(2). When funds exist, the prisoner must pay an initial partial filing fee. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(1). He must then pay the balance of the $350 filing fee over time, through deductions from his prisoner account. Id.

On June 12, 2023, the Court ordered Plaintiff to pay an initial partial filing fee of $1.44. ECF No. 6. Plaintiff paid that fee on June 27, 2023. The Court will grant Plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee. ECF No. 3. He must pay the remainder of the filing fee over time in the manner explained at the end of this Order.

2. SCREENING THE COMPLAINT

2.1 Federal Screening Standard

Under the PLRA, the Court must screen complaints brought by prisoners seeking relief from a governmental entity or an officer or employee of a governmental entity. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(a). The Court must dismiss a complaint if the prisoner raises claims that are legally “frivolous or malicious,” that fail to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or that seek monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b).

In determining whether the complaint states a claim, the Court applies the same standard that applies to dismissals under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 12(b)(6). See Cesal v. Moats, 851 F.3d 714, 720 (7th Cir. 2017) (citing Booker-El v. Superintendent, Ind. State Prison, 668 F.3d 896, 899 (7th Cir. 2012)). A complaint must include “a short and plain statement of the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief.” Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2). The complaint must contain enough facts, accepted as true, to “state a claim for relief that is plausible on its face.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009) (quoting Bell Atl. Corp. v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 570 (2007)). “A claim has facial plausibility when the plaintiff pleads factual content that allows a court to draw the reasonable inference that the defendant is liable for the misconduct alleged.” Id. (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 556).

To state a claim for relief under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, a plaintiff must allege that someone deprived him of a right secured by the Constitution or the laws of the United States and that whoever deprived him of this right was acting under the color of state law. D.S. v. E. Porter Cnty. Sch. Corp., 799

F.3d 793, 798 (7th Cir. 2015) (citing Buchanan–Moore v. County of Milwaukee, 570 F.3d 824, 827 (7th Cir. 2009)). The Court construes pro se complaints liberally and holds them to a less stringent standard than pleadings drafted by lawyers. Cesal, 851 F.3d at 720 (citing Perez v. Fenoglio, 792 F.3d 768, 776 (7th Cir. 2015)).

2.2 Plaintiff's Allegations

Plaintiff alleges that on January 14, 2023, the Food Service Administrator oversaw food service. ECF No. 1 at 2. Defendant Stompner (“Stompner”), the Food Supervisor, was responsible for making sure nothing inappropriate was added to the food trays. Id. The two individuals were in charge of making sure that all food trays were safe, and they were supposed to watch inmates fill the trays. Id. These individuals failed to do their job and a staple pierced Plaintiff’s mouth and broke off as a result, causing Plaintiff severe pain. Id.

Plaintiff pushed his medical emergency button for help. Id. Sgt. Bongert asked Plaintiff what his emergency was. Id. Plaintiff explained what happened with the staple and that he was in excruciating pain. Id. Plaintiff had pulled the staple out of his spaghetti. Id. Staples are not allowed in the restrictive housing unit for safety. Id. at 3. Bongert called Defendant Krebs R.N. (“Krebs”) to see Plaintiff. Id.

Eventually, Krebs had Plaintiff pulled from his room and taken to the exam room. Id. Krebs examined Plaintiff’s mouth and found a small abrasion in the roof of Plaintiff’s mouth. Id. Krebs took Plaintiff’s vitals and gave him Ibuprofen in accordance with nursing protocol. Krebs did not refer Plaintiff to dental despite his complaint of feeling something stuck in the back of his gums. Id.

A few days later, Jane Does walked past Plaintiff's cell and asked if he needed any medical treatment. Id. Plaintiff explained what happened with the staple and he complained of pain, swelling, and that he could taste blood in his mouth coming from his gums. Id. Both Jane Does gave Plaintiff a "Blue Slip" on January 20, 2023. Id. at 4. Plaintiff submitted health service requests for follow-up treatment for the staple in his mouth. Id. Defendant Barter ("Barter") finally referred Plaintiff to dental after three days of waiting.

On January 28, 2023, Plaintiff sent a medical request to Thompson, the HSU manager, complaining of the denial of medical treatment for his mouth. Id. On January 29, 2023, Barter responded to Thompson that Plaintiff's requests were sent to dental. Id. Barter did not examine Plaintiff despite his complaints of pain and feeling something still in his gums. Id.

Bongert informed Defendant Mastricola ("Mastricola") that a staple was found in Plaintiff's food and had pierced his gum. Id. Mastricola refused to send Plaintiff to a hospital and caused Plaintiff pain and suffering. Id. Plaintiff alleges that all the defendants were deliberately indifferent to his serious medical issue and caused him pain and suffering.

2.3 Analysis

First, Plaintiff may proceed on an Eighth Amendment deliberate-indifference claim against Krebs and Barter for their indifference to Plaintiff's serious medical need. The Eighth Amendment secures an inmate's right to medical care. Prison officials violate this right when they "display deliberate indifference to serious medical needs of prisoners." Greeno v. Daley, 414 F.3d 645, 652 (7th Cir. 2005) (internal quotation omitted). Deliberate indifference claims contain both an objective and a subjective component: the inmate "must first establish that his medical condition is objectively, ‘sufficiently serious,’; and second, that prison officials acted with a ‘sufficiently culpable state of mind,’ i.e., that they both knew of and disregarded an excessive risk to inmate health.” Lewis v. McLean, 864 F.3d 556, 562–63 (7th Cir. 2017) (quoting Farmer v. Brennan, 511 U.S. 825, 834 (1994) (internal citations omitted)).

“A delay in treating non-life-threatening but painful conditions may constitute deliberate indifference if the delay exacerbated the injury or unnecessarily prolonged an inmate’s pain.” Arnett v. Webster, 658 F.3d 742, 753 (7th Cir. 2011) (citing McGowan v. Hulick, 612 F.3d 636, 640 (7th Cir. 2010)). The length of delay that is tolerable “‘depends on the seriousness of the condition and the ease of providing treatment.’” Id. (quoting McGowan, 612 F.3d at 640).

Plaintiff alleges that he has suffered excruciating pain from the bleeding injury in his mouth and that Krebs and Barter denied him proper care. At the pleadings stage, the Court finds that Plaintiff’s allegations sufficiently state an Eighth Amendment deliberate-indifference claim to a serious medical need against Krebs and Barter.

Plaintiff may not, however, proceed on an Eighth Amendment claim against the non-medical defendant, Mastricola. Non-medical officials are entitled to “rely on the expertise of medical personnel” and “will generally be justified in believing that the prisoner is in capable hands.” Arnett v. Webster, 658 F.3d 742, 755 (7th Cir. 2011) (citing Greeno v. Daley, 414 F.3d 645, 656 (7th Cir. 2005)). It is only when a nonmedical official entirely ignores an inmate’s complaints or has sufficient notice of “an excessive risk to inmate health or safety” that he may be found deliberately indifferent for not taking action. Id. (quoting Vance v. Peters, 97 F.3d 987, 993 (7th Cir. 1996)). In this case, Plaintiff saw medical professionals for his injury on the day it happened and then again several days later. Mastricola was therefore entitled to rely on the expertise of the medical professionals. As such, the Court will dismiss Mastricola from this case for the failure to state a claim against her.

Second, Plaintiff may not proceed on a state-law negligence claim against Lenz and Stompner for failing to train and ensure that the food staff exercised reasonable care in the food preparation. First it is unclear what role Lenz played in this incident; however, the facts suggest, and the Court will therefore assume, that Lenz is the unnamed Food Service Administrator. To sustain a claim for negligence, Plaintiff must allege “(1) a breach of (2) a duty owed (3) that results in (4) an injury or injuries, or damages.” Paul v. Skemp, 625 N.W.2d 860, 865 (Wis. 2001). A district court may exercise supplemental jurisdiction over state law claims that “are so related to claims in the action” over which the Court has “original jurisdiction that they form part of the same case or controversy under Article III of the United States Constitution.” Supplemental jurisdiction is not appropriate merely because the claims are “tangentially related” or share a broad factual background. See Hernandez v. Dart, 635 F. Supp. 2d 798, 814 (N.D. Ill. 2009). “Instead, the question is whether the proof necessary for the state claim overlaps with the proof necessary for the federal claim.” Birido v. Mathis, Case No. 15-cv-456, 2015 WL 3948150, at *3 (S.D. Ill. June 26, 2015) (citations omitted).

Plaintiff names Lenz and Stompner as defendants based on the failure to train and ensure that the food staff exercised reasonable care in the food preparation. But the evidence necessary for Plaintiff to succeed on such a claim will not overlap with the evidence necessary for him to succeed on his federal claim. As such, the Court does not have supplemental jurisdiction over this state-law claim. 28 U.S.C. § 1367(a). The Court will accordingly dismiss Lenz and Stompner from this action. Although relief in federal court is foreclosed to Plaintiff on a state-law negligence claim, he may pursue this claim in state court if he so desires.

3. CONCLUSION

In light of the foregoing, the Court finds that Plaintiff may proceed on the following claim pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915A(b):

Claim One: Eighth Amendment claim against Krebs and Barter for their deliberate indifference to Plaintiff's serious medical need.

The Court has enclosed with this Order guides prepared by court staff to address common questions that arise in cases filed by prisoners. These guides are entitled, "Answers to Prisoner Litigants' Common Questions" and "Answers to Pro Se Litigants' Common Questions." They contain information that Plaintiff may find useful in prosecuting his case.

Defendants should take note that, within forty-five (45) days of service of this Order, they are to file a summary judgment motion that raises all exhaustion-related challenges. The Court will issue a scheduling order at a later date that embodies other relevant deadlines.

Accordingly,

IT IS ORDERED that Plaintiff's motion for leave to proceed without prepaying the filing fee, ECF No. 3, be and the same is hereby GRANTED;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Court does not have supplemental jurisdiction over Plaintiff's state law negligence claim, and such claim be and the same is hereby DISMISSED without prejudice;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants Mastricola, Lenz, and Stompner be and the same are hereby DISMISSED from this action;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that under an informal service agreement between the Wisconsin Department of Justice and this Court, a copy of the complaint and this Order have been electronically transmitted to the Wisconsin Department of Justice for service on Defendants Krebs and Barter;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that under the informal service agreement, those Defendants shall file a responsive pleading to the complaint within sixty (60) days;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that Defendants raise any exhaustion-related challenges by filing a motion for summary judgment within forty-five (45) days of service;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED if Defendants contemplate a motion to dismiss, the parties must meet and confer before the motion is filed. Defendants should take care to explain the reasons why they intend to move to dismiss the complaint, and Plaintiff should strongly consider filing an amended complaint. The Court expects this exercise in efficiency will obviate the need to file most motions to dismiss. Indeed, when the Court grants a motion to dismiss, it typically grants leave to amend unless it is “certain from the face of the complaint that any amendment would be futile or otherwise unwarranted.” Harris v. Meisner, No. 20-2650, 2021 WL 5563942, at *2 (7th Cir. Nov. 29, 2021) (quoting Runnion ex rel. Runnion v. Girl Scouts of Greater Chi. & Nw. Ind., 786 F.3d 510, 524 (7th Cir. 2015)). Therefore, it is in both parties’ interest to discuss the matter prior to motion submissions. Briefs in support of, or opposition to, motions to dismiss should cite no more than ten (10) cases per claim. No string citations will be accepted. If Defendants file a motion to dismiss, Plaintiff is hereby warned that he must file a response, in accordance with Civil Local Rule 7 (E.D.

Wis.), or he may be deemed to have waived any argument against dismissal and face dismissal of this matter with prejudice;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the agency having custody of Plaintiff shall collect from his institution trust account the $348.56 balance of the filing fee by collecting monthly payments from Plaintiff's prison trust account in an amount equal to 20% of the preceding month's income credited to Plaintiff's trust account and forwarding payments to the Clerk of Court each time the amount in the account exceeds $10 in accordance with 28 U.S.C. § 1915(b)(2). The payments shall be clearly identified by the case name and number assigned to this case. If Plaintiff is transferred to another county, state, or federal institution, the transferring institution shall forward a copy of this Order along with his remaining balance to the receiving institution;

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that a copy of this Order be sent to the officer in charge of the agency where Plaintiff is confined; and

IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk's Office mail Plaintiff a copy of the guides entitled "Answers to Prisoner Litigants' Common Questions" and "Answers to Pro Se Litigants' Common Questions," along with this Order.

Dated at Milwaukee, Wisconsin, this 12th day of September, 2023.

BY THE COURT:

J. P. Stadtmueller
U.S. District Judge
